What WomSakhi is

Three outcomes, seven places to reach them, and one set of rules underneath.

Trusted connection

Circles she chooses, conversations that are moderated, and people who are who they say they are.

Earning

A shop she can open from a photograph, orders she can fulfil, and money that reaches an account in her own name.

Everyday support

Her cycle, her rights, her documents, her safety — private by default and never a condition of membership.

The words we use

A name has to work for a woman who reads slowly, in her second language, on a borrowed phone. That rules out most product vocabulary.

Say the thing, not the concept

“Wellbeing” is a category a designer invented. “My health” is something anybody can picture. Every name in this product is the plainest true word, not the most elegant one.

A verb she would use

“Earn” and “Market” describe the business. Sell and Buy describe what she is doing, and they pair as opposites so one explains the other.

Never a word that judges

No simple mode, no basic mode, nothing that names her as less. The easier view is Simple view; the help is Help me; the audio is Listen.

One name everywhere

The same thing carries the same name in every screen, every language and every document. A second word for the same thing is a second thing, as far as she can tell.

How it connects

The seven areas are where she goes. The spine is what they all use — built once and reached from everywhere, so a mentor, a document or a report means the same thing wherever she finds it.

Why a spine and not seven copies

A mentor booked from Health is the same mentor, the same directory and the same complaint route as one booked from Work. A document proved once is proved everywhere. A person blocked in Circles cannot reach her in Market.

The alternative — each area growing its own version — is how a product ends up with two inboxes, three definitions of verified, and a report that goes nowhere.

- Shared spine
- Experience area
- Reaches and is reached

Seven services, reached from everywhere

These are not modules a woman visits. They are things she needs while she is somewhere else — so each is built once and surfaced wherever the need arises.

Mentors

BUILT

One directory, one booking system, one set of scopes — surfaced wherever a woman needs a person rather than a page.

- Peer, guide and verified professional are four distinct identities
- Reached from Learn, Work, Health, Earn, Circles and Help
- A badge states the reviewed scope, never universal expertise
- Booking, reschedule, no-show and complaint routes are shared

APPEARS IN

Wellbeing Grow Earn Circles

Help and Safety

Help from a person

BUILT

A WomSakhi guide helps her use the platform. Reachable from every screen, never buried in a menu.

- Distinct from a peer mentor and from AI
- Published hours, and no claim of cover that is not staffed
- Escalates into a case with an owner
- She chooses what context to share

APPEARS IN

My Day Wellbeing Earn Market

Grow Circles Help and Safety

Ask Sakhi

BUILT

The assistant, labelled as AI everywhere it appears, and never the final authority on anything consequential.

- Suggestion-only by default, per action type
- Previews any write before it happens
- Refuses unsupported advice and offers a human route
- Core logging, purchases and safety timing work without it

APPEARS IN

My Day Wellbeing Earn Market

Grow Circles Help and Safety

WomSakhi's own services

The platform's own programmes and services, alongside members' — always labelled as ours.

- Clearly distinguished from a member's listing
- Same catalogue, orders and refund flow
- Never ranked above a relevant member listing without saying so
- Subject to the same reporting routes

APPEARS IN

Market Grow Earn

Swap skills and things

BUILT

What she can swap rather than sell: a skill for a skill, a thing for a thing.

- Swap listings and interest threads
- Conversation, then an agreement both sides record
- No money changes hands and no custody is implied
- Same reporting and blocking as commerce

APPEARS IN

Earn Market Circles Grow

My papers

BUILT

Her papers in one place, used by everything that asks for one.

- Private by default, with its own history and privacy view
- Shared per document, per purpose, revocably
- Issuer-verified, member-uploaded and unverified kept distinct
- Feeds benefits, jobs, verification and contracts

APPEARS IN

Grow Earn Help and Safety Circles

Verified badges

BUILT

Verified once, shown wherever it matters, and honest about what it proves.

- Establishes that a record exists, never gender, safety or quality
- Credential scope and expiry are visible
- Expired credentials pause the services that depended on them
- Badges cannot be bought

The four engines

Every module asks the same four questions. They are answered once, in one place, under one policy.

How a thing becomes a message

AI may propose the timing or the wording. It cannot change a permission, a deadline or a recipient.

The layers under all of it

Four things decide what a given woman, in a given country, at a given age, is actually offered.

Country packs

One product, many countries. Each pack records its own identity service, benefits sources, payment rail, safety numbers, group-savings law, languages and data-protection regime — with a named local reviewer. A country without a pack says so truthfully rather than showing another country's answer.

Age and cohorts

All ages are in scope, with age-appropriate experiences rather than one adult feature set. Enforced server-side on APIs, uploads, search, exports and deep links — not merely hidden from navigation. An adult invitation cannot promote a child into adult access.

Trust and safety

Report, block, evidence, cases with owners, appeals to a different reviewer, and named harms — image-based abuse, impersonation, coercive control. Moderators cannot browse health records or private messages without an authorized case purpose.

Design system

One token source for colour, type, spacing, radius, motion and targets. 44px touch floors, 4.5:1 contrast measured against what is actually painted, 18 languages with scripts that render, and every screen verified at six widths in both themes.

Six journeys that cross the map

Modules are how the product is organised. These are how it is used.

Our promises

The parts of a product nobody puts on a feature list, and everybody judges it by.

What we are, and are not

Sellers sell; a partner carries the goods; WomSakhi holds neither the items nor the money. That position is earned by doing the work — showing who the seller is, holding an agreement with her, and answering complaints within a stated time — not by writing it in the terms.

TERMS · 12 COMMITMENTS

What we hold about her

A notice that stands on its own, in her language, itemising what is collected and why. Each purpose refusable on its own. Her cycle, mood, safety sessions, case details, faith and exact location never reach analytics, advertising or a funder.

PRIVACY · 12 COMMITMENTS

When the law asks

One named recipient, authenticity verified, the minimum actually compelled — never a whole account because a whole account was asked for. She is told unless telling her is unlawful, and the totals are published.

LAWFUL PROCESS · 8 COMMITMENTS

How this pays for itself

Institutions that already fund these outcomes first; buyer-side and delivery margin second; a member paying last and only where it is worth it. Never a cut of a seller's thin margin, and never a price set by her mood, health or distress.

REVENUE · 18 COMMITMENTS

If WomSakhi ever stops

She is told before anything stops working. She exports her records and her papers. A savings group receives its own ledger, reconciled. Open obligations are settled rather than abandoned. Nothing is deleted quietly and nothing is handed to anyone else without a lawful basis and notice. A product that asks a woman to keep her livelihood here should be able to answer this before she asks.

GOVERNANCE AND ENDINGS · 10 COMMITMENTS

Everything in the specification, and where it lives

All 47 areas of the catalogue, mapped to the place in the product a woman would find them. Nothing specified is without a home; nothing shown here is without a specification.

What this map is for

A woman opening WomSakhi is not shopping for features. She has one thing she needs today — money that arrives, a group that answers, a body she wants to understand, or a way out.

The architecture exists so that whichever door she comes through, the rest is there when she needs it: the same identity, the same consent, the same reminders, the same protections.

Everything on these pages is specified to the level of a testable outcome, with its dependencies, its gates and the decisions that belong to a clinician, a lawyer or a safeguarding owner rather than to engineering.
